A RICHMOND PAPER FOR RICHMOND PEOPLE

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

It seems tough that whenever some of the boys get a bright idea, some older person has to come along and squelch it right aways.

* * * *

Take Adam Weisgerber, for instance. It seems that the other day when Ad went with the rest of the boys to shake hands with President Hoover, Ad decided that the boys of St. Mary's team should wear iron derbies.

* * * *

But before the boys could get out and hunt for a hat shop, Slip Madigan, the coach of the Galloping Gaels came along and (business of inventing a new phrase) nipped the idea in the bud.

* * * *

Speaking of ideas, we admit that one of the worst forms of a joke in the world is the loaded cigarette that goes "plop" while you're smoking it.

* * * *

That is a very, very, very rotten stunt when someone pulls it on you, poor innocent unsuspecting chap.

* * * *

But what a whale of a funny thing it is when you give a loaded cigarette to someone else and then watch his expresion when it goes "plop." Then it's a bright idea.

* * * *

One of these days we are going to present a certain person with a cigar.

* * * *

And the cigar is going to be loaded with nitro-glycerine. And boy, won't we laugh when it explodes.

* * * *

But all silliness to one (1) side, we do think that a person who passes out loaded cigarettes or cigars ranks with the cut up who puts on women's hats at a party.

* * * *

A few years ago if someone had told you that you could sit down in your living room, turn a knob on a box, and listen to an orchestra playing 3000 miles away, you'd have made motions with your hands and declared privately that the person who made the prediction was off.

* * * *

But now one can sit down, turn the dial, and listen to a famous orchestra give a concert at Carnegie hall, New York, or listen to a football game that is being played 3000 miles away.

* * * *

As a result now if someone tells you that within a few years we will be flying to the moon, we'd merely shrugged our shoulders and say, "Well, what of it?"

* * * *

The most cutting remark we'd heard for some time was made last night when a certain person was yodeling about Chloe, and wanting to go were she was.

* * * *

At this juncture someone, who seemed slightly annoyed, remarked in a whisper that could be heard three blocks away, "I wish to blank you were there!"

20 PLANES HUNT TRANSPORT AIRPLANE

FIRST CLUE FOUND IN SEARCH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—UP—A mail plane lost in a blizzard in the Tehachapi mountains while enroute from San Diego to Oakland with a pilot, mechanic and woman passenger aboard, was hunted by 20 planes and automobile parties tonight.

The first clue was reported late today when one of the searching planes sighted what was believed to be a parachute flare on the ground 25 miles south of Lebec. It was thought it might have been dropped from the missing plane seeking to make a forced landing.

Lebec is 30 miles south of Bakersfield. Visibility was reported good in the district late today, despite a drizzling rain that had replaced a snowfall.

On board the missing Pacific Air transport mail plane, which left Burbank, near Los Angeles, at 11:50 p. m. Monday were:

Flavius A. Donaldson, pilot.

George Rogers, mechanic.

Miss J. Markow.

Officials of the line estimated that Donaldson must have crashed or made a successful landing about 2 a. m. The landing might have been made in some remote, concealed spot.

When the plane failed to arrive at Oakland, planes were sent out from Los Angeles. Federal forest rangers, motorcycle officers and mountain ranchers took up the hunt in the snow covered territory. It was near Lebec that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made a successful landing in a glider after it lost an aileron.

DUST REPORT TO BE MADE SOON

MARTINEZ, Nov. 18.—Farmers in Clayton valley district who have protested the presence of Cowell Lime and Cement plant's dust will know Dec. 15 the company's intention in the proposed plan to install dust collectors.

Contra Costa county board of supervisors instructed J. H. Wells county clerk to prepare a message for W. H. George, superintendent of the plant to learn what he is planning to do about the protests made by farmers in the Clayton valley district.

A meeting scheduled to be held between supervisors, farmers and George on Monday was cancelled due to the absence of the latter who was attending a meeting in San Francisco.

One meeting has been held between a committee representing the complaining farmers headed by A. C. Carr, but no definite action was taken. The farmers have suggested that dust collectors be installed by the plant.

Threats have been made by residents of the district to bring suit against the concern if something is not done to abate the alleged nuisance.

Complaints from farmers in the Ygnacio valley on blasts by the same concern whose quarry is located in that area, will be heard Dec. 15.

DENVER HIT BY HEAVY STORM; ONE MISSING

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 18.—UP—The first major snowstorm of the winter season swept the Rocky Mountain states tonight, sending temperatures tumbling near zero and blocking highways in many sections.

The storm, described by the Weather Bureau as of decided intensity struck Colorado, Wyoming and Utah and was moving on New Mexico and eastern Arizona.

One man was reported missing in Utah, where the snowfall reached a depth of 10 inches in some sections. Several others were suffering from exposure to the elements.

The missing man was Allan Larson, 25, of Fairview, who was last seek walking down a road between Thistle junction and Springville Saturday. A search was in progress late today.

The heaviest snow of the season fell in Denver tonight, slowing traffic in the downtown district. The temperature dropped below freezing. Airplane service was hampered.

Three parties of motorists were rescued by highway workers near Antonito, Colo., where their automobiles had frozen in the drifts.

Snow from three to six inches deep covered the range and farm lands of southern Wyoming. The snow was considered a boon by ranchers, however, because the grass had become dry and brittle.

A foot and a half of snow was reported in the mountain regions of southwestern Wyoming and Colorado. Temperatures dropped a few degrees above zero on the range lands.

Albuquerque, N. M., was swept by high winds. The Weather Bureau said the storm was due to strike there in 24 hours.

U. C. BREAK 'PATCHED'

BERKELEY, Nov. 18.—UP—Cordial relations between the University of Southern California and the University of California had apparently been re-established tonight.

C.'s football team beat the bears, 74 to 0, which had been resented at the Southern school. H. C. Willett, dean of men at U. S. C. generously accepted the apology by telegram late today.

ACCOMPLICE OF BANDIT HUNTED

Paralyzed from the hips down as the result of a wound suffered when he was shot by Patrolman H. A. Thulen of the El Cerrito police department last night, an unidentified man lies in the Hospital Richmond in a critical state.

The shooting followed an attempted holdup of Louis Heldoorn, Schmidt lane and San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito, at his wrecking yards at an early hour last night.

Heldoorn told police that he returned home at an early hour last night, got out of his automobile and started to open a gate to his back yard.

Holdup Attempt

At this point someone shouted, "stick 'em up!"

Thinking that it was a joke, Heldoorn replied, "Go to ——!"

He looked over his shoulder to stare into the muzzle of a revolver. Realizing that it was a holdup, Heldoorn pushed open the door of his home, ran through his house with the bandit in pursuit, and then ran out of the same door he entered and started across San Pablo avenue.

Chase Started

The bandit, so he said, followed him, yelling [illegible] to halt. Heldoorn refused to do so, and threw his purse away.

Patrolman Thulen, on his beat, passed by at this time and saw the two men running. Thinking that there was a fight, he stopped his machine and leaped out asking

BEARS PREPARE FOR BIG GAME

BERKELEY, Nov. 18.—Defeated in three out of four conference starts and, on the basis of comparative scores, very much the underdogs in the impending California-Stanford "big game" at Berkeley next Saturday, the university of California football team today swung into final preparations for the classic strugg'e.

The Golden Bears will carry on intensive signal drills and practice on defense against Stanford plays until Thursday night, when they will seek much-needed rest and seclusion at a country club not far from the city. There they will remain until the morning of the contest.

Out of the "mud battle" with Nevada last Saturday Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price evolved a new backfield which may, conceivably, take the field for the Bears at the whistle Saturday. And on this group of men California followers and the players themselves are pinning their tattered hopes for victory.

She'don Potter 145 pound quarterback Ed Griffiths "re-built" quarterback who if he starts will be opening his second game of the season at left halfback; Ray East, who suffered a shoulder injury in the Southern California game and who may start at right half with the protection of a special pad; and Joe Hickingbotham, returned to his o'd place at fullback after a season spent at half—that is the Bear backfield as it looks today.

The Californians are not making a point of injuries, particularly in view of the fact that a number of the men who have been "on the shelf" are likely to be in shape to play, if not to start, but the fact remains that the backfield as it is at present constituted is at best a makeshift.

The Bears are taking comfort from the rapid recovery of East, who demonstrated Saturday that his sprinting abiilty has not been impaired and that his fleet feet operate in mud almost as effectively as they do on a fast field.

Lee Valianos and Hank Schaldach, halfbacks, are both still on the injury list. There is a remote possibility, according to Charles Volz, magic worker of the California training quarters, that Schaldach may be ab'e to play despite the present condition of his injured knee ,which will not permit him now to subject it to the stresses and strains of competition. The Bear ace has been in a suit in recent practice sessions, running through signal drill but taking no chances with the injury.

The possibility that Valianos will play is very remote indeed, according to Volz.

Ralston "Rusty" Gill, regular fullback is about in the same plight as Schaldach. His is a knee injury too. Given a dry field he may be able to function with something like his old effectiveness, but a wet field would bog him down hopelessly—which means that at best he would be considerab'y less than 100 percent efficient.

An ingenious pad, patented by the Bear trainer, will enable Ed Kirwan to hold down a place at quarterback if his services are needed, Volz declares. The protective "armor," built up out of thin fabric board and sponge rubber, effectively guards a rib injury sustained over a month ago in the St. Mary's game. Kirwan has been out of the picture for so long that it is considered very unlikely that he will start, but he may get into the game.

Clarence "Moose" Garrity who, at fullback last Saturday was laying his punts down on the proverbial ten-cent piece, may prove an asset to a backfield that lacks powerful kickers.

Indications are that the Bear line which has been functioning practically as a unit throughout the season will be in readiness Saturday. Ralph Stone will probably get the call over Ellis "Togo" Thornton at left end, leaving the other wing position to the veteran Russ Avery.

Dolph Timmerman and Fitz Cahn will work the tackle positions, with the colorful Ted Beckett and Captain Carl Handy at guard. Herman Eickmeyer, who replaced F. Medanich as regular center after the latter broke two sma'l bones in his ankle in the Southern California game, will play.

NORTHWESTERN COACH SEES HARD GAME

EVANSTON, I'l., Nov. 18.—UP—Northwestern's Wildcats today turned their attention from the civic celebration which followed the clinching of the Big Ten championship, and settled down to the more serious business of Saturday's contest with Notre Dame.

"We've accomplished 'our main objective-the Big Ten title," Coach Dick Hanley told his squad. "Now it is time to forget that and look forward to Western and national honors. A victory over Notre Dame will assure us of the Western championship and will give us a strong claim on the mythical national title.

"Notre Dame can be defeated, but it is going to take real football. We can't beat them if you fellows get 'swell-headed' and loaf. This week's work will be the hardest of the year and I expect every man to give his best."

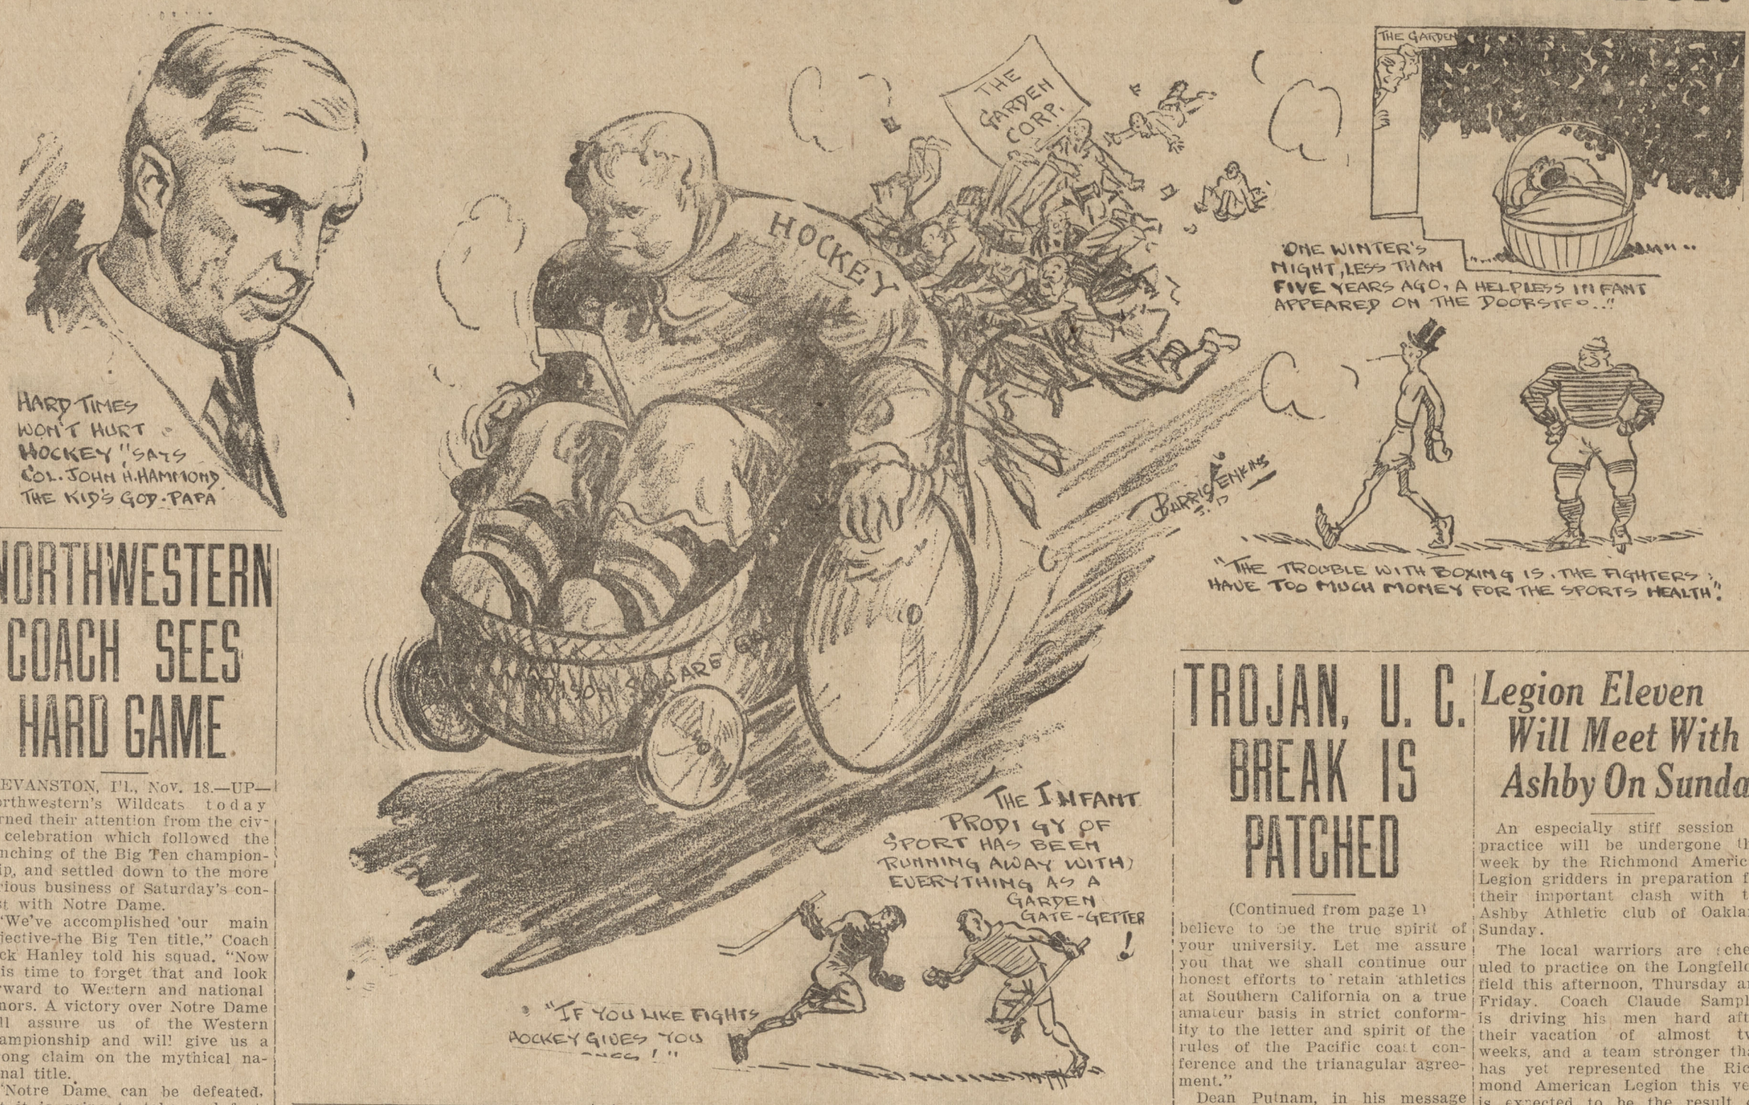

Coach Hanley believes his team can win. "The pressure is off now" he said. "The Big Ten title was our goal and we have reached it. After the Wisconsin game the players relaxed and I believe this will give us an advantage over Notre Dame."

believe to be the true spirit of your university. Let me assure you that we shall continue our honest efforts to retain athletics at Southern California on a true amateur basis in strict conformity to the letter and spirit of the rules of the Pacific coast conference and the trianagular agreement."

Dean Putnam, in his message to Dean Willett, had said:

"We regret exceedingly the newspaper controversy now being carried on over alleged professionalism. Please regard statements made by the editor of the student paper or alleged by the press to have been made by individuals here as having no official authorization."

The California official went further to recommend that each of the conference conduct an independent investigation of the allegations of subsidizing athletes recently.

Three persons have been quoted as making remarks which resulted in a demand by the University of Southern California Monday that authorities at California take "a definite stand, one way or another," in the battle of words.

They are Arthur M. Arlett, editor o the daily Californian, student publication, whose editorials demanded a complete investigation of athletics at all Pacific coast colleges and did not name any single one of them, Fritz Cahn, member of the Bears' football varsity, who has said he does not believe he said his squad "was beaten by the best professional team in the country," and Dink Templeton, Stanford track coach, who suggested that Stanford join with California in an investigation Stanford officials immediately made it clear that Templeton was only voicing his individual ideas.

The local warriors are scheduled to practice on the Longfellow field this afternoon, Thursday and Friday. Coach Claude Samples is driving his men hard after their vacation of almost two weeks, and a team stronger than has yet represented the Richmond American Legion this year is expected to be the result on Sunday of all the hard work of this week.

The three practice nights of this week are especially important for the local athletes, as they have a tough game ahead of them this week-end. The Ashby players have already tied them six to six this season, and a heated battle may consequently be expected to occur.

The game will be played at 2:30 o'clock on the Richmond Union high school field.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 18.—UP—The team that can stand up under a bruising battle in the first half and not wilt will win the Notre Dame-Northwestern football game Saturday at Evanston, Knute Rockne told the United Press tonight.

"Until we lost Savoldi," Rockne said. "I thought Notre Dame would win by a couple of touchdowns but the game looks all even to me now."

Rockne was asked which team would win if Northwestern played as it did last Saturday when he saw the Wildcats come from behind to defeat Wisconsin, 20 to 7, and Notre Dame played its average game and he replied:

"We'll lead them the first half by a touchdown, but I don't know whether we'll be able to hold the lead."

The most impressive thing about Northwestern's undefeated team to Rockne is its power.

"With Savoldi out we can't match the big powerful backs on the Northwestern team and our line hasn't anywhere near the power of their big forward wall. The Northwestern line for Wisconsin's big line to a frazzle in the first half and the latter was all worn out when the second half started. I'm afraid they may do the same thing to us."

Asked which game of the remaining three on Notre Dame's schedule against Northwestern, Army and Southern California he thought the Irish were most likely to lose, Rockne replied in his queer Nordic humor:

"All of them" and then he added: "Right now this game looks like the toughest: Next week I guess Army will look the same way and then next week Southern California the same way. Frankly, I think its the three hardest games in succession that have ever confronted any team I've coached. I can't point for any of them. I just have to take them as they come. If we do any pointing it will be for Southern California after we finish with Northwestern and Army and that mostly because they are last on the schedule."

Rockne stresses Savoldi's loss as a hard blow to the Notre Dame team because of the demoralizing effect the Three Oaks, Mich., Italian had on the opposing team.

Canada Wheat Takes Big Drop

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—UP—December wheat prices, under influence of United States government purchases, held steady at 73 cents a bushel on the Chicago board of trade today.

Other grain deliveries, not known to be supported by grain stabilization corporation buying, dropped as much as 3 1-2 cents when all-time record low prices were touched for a time in Winnepeg.

Winnipeg prices on December wheat dropped to 55 cents a bushel while bedlam reigned there on the exchange floor. Rumors of collapse of the western Canada wheat pools sent an avalanche of stop-loss orders into the pit. Suddenly the flood of selling stopped and the market turned up almost three cents at the final gong, December wheat closed at 57 1-2 cents, a loss of 4 7-8 cents per bushel.

Hit Run Driver Commits Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—UP—Arrest was evaded by W. W. King 40, when he shot himself twice above the heart here today.

Two police officers went to the rooming house where King lived with a warrant that charged that the driver of an automobile owned by him had failed to stop and render aid when the machine struck Edwin Zerui Monday, King apparently heard them ask for him because he ran into a closet and fired two bullets into his chest which caused his death in an emergency hospital a short time later.

Zerui will probably recover from his injuries. Witnesses of the accident noted the license number of the automobile, by which King was traced.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—World War veterans of California have been summoned to the colors for the annual role call of the American National Red Cross by State Commander C. W. "The American Legion has been active in its support of the Red Cross call to membership, and, in order that this spirit of helpful cooperation may be continued and expanded, I appeal to you to bring immediately to the attention of every Legionnaire in our department the importance of rallying to this year's roll call. I know every Legionnaire, wherever possible, will avail himself of the opportunity to wear the insignia denoting that he has responded to this worthy cause.

"This year, more than ever before, the need is great for a large Red Cross membership, and I hope the Legionnaires within our department will cooperate to make this campaign highly successful."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—UP—The sack of groceries that cost $1 a year ago ,now costs less than 90 cents. The average rent bill is off ten dollars or more a month.

A survey of government statistics on retail and wholesale prices by the United Press today disclosed that the opening of the winter buying season, with Christmas food and coal bills all facing the householder, finds him in better shape than in several years—if he has his job and as much money as he had several years ago.

THE SPOILERS AT THE FOX TOMORROW

Five hundred extras, the largest number ever taken on a location of this sort since the advent of sound pictures, were used by Paramount at its big camp and set at Point Hueneme, California, on "The Spoilers".

The set, a mile long and a quarter-mile wide, duplicated in every detail the boom town of Nome, Alaska, as it was thirty years ago at the time of Rex Beach's classic story.

In addition to the 500 extra and bit players taken from Hollywood Edwin Carewe's company recruited an additional half-thousand "atmosphere" players from Oxnard, Ventura, Santa Paula, Saticoy and other adjacent communities for the bigger scenes.

The Hollywood contingent lived at the big tent city for three weeks, utilizing the tents and cabins that were a part of the Nome set, for beneath its rough exterior this new Nome was modern and with every living convenience.

Gary Cooper is featured in this first all-talking production of "The Spoilers" which begins its first local engagement at the Fox-California theater tomorrow.

Supporting him in the cast are Kay Johnson, Bety Comptson, William Boyd, Harry Green, James Kirkwood "Slim" Summerville and others of favor with cinema fans. Also Paramount News.

Heavy Gales On Sea Hit Traffic

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 18.—UP—Small craft remained at anchor in the harbor here today, warned of a new 60-mile windstorm blowing in the Pacific ocean.

It was found that many vessels had rigged their anchors during the night. At the height of the blow the U. S. S. Medusa, repair ship of the United States battle fleet, broke her anchor chain and drifted over the anchorage of several battleships.

However, the other crafts were fortunately at sea with the fleet. The 55-foot fishing schooner Heulva, which has been out for two weeks with eight men aboard, caused some worry here. It was thought the Huelva might not have been able to weather last night's blow.

Abandonment Of Road Is Fought

MARTINEZ, Nov. 18.—Four Martinez men were in Sacramento today to oppose the proposed abandonment of the Benicia-Cordelia highway in favor of the $1,500,000 road to be constructed through American canyon to Carquinez bridge.

The four men are conferring with Bert B. Meek, state director of public works.

The four men are Mayor Raymond Claeys, J. L. Elmquist, president of the chamber of commerce Jack Sivera, manager of the local State Automobile association office, and R. B. Borland.

GEORGE ARLISS IN FILM PLAY AT FOX

George Arliss is coming in a new creation "Old English", a part which he considers the best characterization of his long career.

According to "Old English" independence is the most precious of all possessions. Proud and defiant of convention is the rakish old rascal that George Arliss has so adroitly transferred to the Vitaphone screen for Warner Brothers.

"Old English" is, however, very human, and in the hectic last three days of his life he lives in retrospect the eighty odd years of his not too virtuous life. Rogue, though he is, his stubborn fight for what he wants most and his zest for living find a responsive echo in every human heart.

"Old English" will open today at the Fox-California Theater with George Arliss starring in the role made famous on the stage. The supporting cast which includes Betty Lawford, Doris Lloyd, Leon Janney, Ivan Simpson and numerous others, adds to the interest of the production which is exceeding even the great "Disraeli" in popularity. Alfred E. Green directed.

Also on the program is a talking dog comedy entitled "Who Killed Rover."

Tribute Paid To Dead U. S. Envoy

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 18.—Last tribute has been paid here to Edmund Lowry, second secretary of the American embassy who was killed a week ago in a fall when he leaned too far over a bannister to speak with a friend.

Lowry was said to have had a charmed life. He served through the Philippine insurrection, was a major of Persian gendarme and aided in rounding up Persian rug thieves, and later took part in the World War.

He had been consul at Guadajara before he came to his post here. He will be buried in the United States. A widow and three children survive.

U. S. Government Big Land Holder

DENVER, Colo.—The United States government is by far the largest land holder in the state of Colorado, according to the state immigration bureau. While precise figures are impossible to compile because of conflicts of reserves, withdrawals and classifications, the bureau estimates that the government owns or controls 37 percent of the entire surface area of the state.

Man Serves As Organist Long

MORRIS, Minn.—A 36-year career as a church organist during which time she has never missed a service will be brought to an end soon when Mrs. B. H. Betters moves to Minneapolis. Mrs. Betters started playing the organ in 1894. She played wedding music at the first church built here by the First Lutheran congregation.

Chinese Laborers Stranded In Japan

TOKYO—More than 3000 Chinese laborers are stranded in Japan, unable to find work because of the prevailing hard times. Police were required to handle 200 of them who walked from Yokohama to Tokyo, 18 miles, to demand passage home from the Chinese legation. More than 4000 Korean laborers also are nearly destitute in Tokyo.

THREE KILLED, 500 ARRESTED IN RIOTS

BARCELONA, Spain, Nov. 18.—UP—Rioting strikers fought each other and the police in the streets of Barcelona today, the second day of a general walk-out which has paralyzed this rich industrial community.

Three persons were killed in riots today, scores were wounded and hundreds arrested. In addition two workers died of injuries received in other riots during the last 36 hours.

In Madrid, where the general strike over the week-end caused outbreaks in many places throughout Spain, the situation was reported quiet.

Strikes in Granada and elsewhere spread to Alicante today, however, and general unrest caused uncertainty and a rising uneasiness.

Riots in Barcelona today involved strikers who fought one another as well as the authorities. They appeared to have no certain aim in the strike, originally called in sympathy with the Madrid walkout, but fought each other as indiscriminately as they tossed stones thru car windows and battled patrols of police.

Most of the injuries during today's clashes were believed slight, although the riots at times were regular pitched battles with considerable firing on both sides.

The total arrests numbered at least 500 during the night and today, but police after questioning the strikers, let most of them go. Only 81 were held tonight, most of them recognized labor agitators.

Omnibus lines and subways were operating today, under heavy guard. Newspapers, however, and many industrial centers were closed. Many streets in the center of Barcelona were closed to general traffic because of fights. The police continued to guard public buildings closely, including the telephone and telegraph offices, waterworks and other public utilities.

The worst incident during today's riots occurred at the Plaza Universidad, where one man was killed and several were wounded in a gun battle among strikers and civil guards. One civil guardsman was injured when his horse fell, shot from under him.

Battles between strikers occurred in front of the headquarters of the so - called "free syndicate". Members of that union battled with members of the Sindicato Unico. The civil guard patrol rushed up and intervened, firing several shots before the battle was stopped. One man was killed in that affray and several were wounded.

Clerk Of Court Commits Suicide

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 18.—UP—Henry C. Finkler, secretary of the California supreme court for 52 years, went for a stroll with two old friends here today, and as they parted killed himself with a revolver.

Accompanied by John Lang, deputy coroner of San Mateo county, and Walter Hilton, a jeweler, Finkler, who had been active in supreme court affairs until yesterday, walked about town.

Finkler complained to his friends about a feeling he had that he had committed some wrong that he could not explain. Lang and Hilton tried to assure him that this was impossible but Finkler suddenly excused himself from them, stepped behind the barn that was a short distance away, and ended his life.

His associates in the state building at San Francisco were shocked, saying he appeared to be mentally alert while he worked Monday.

Darrow Sutton was the new president of Richmond Union High school honor society today following his election yesterday when the group met in special session.

The honor society consists of students who have attained an average of "A" in their studies.

At the same meeting the group planned for a theater party to be held in Oakland at a date to be selected later. A committee consisting of Hughes Fowell, Vuokko Carlson, Eldon Vestal and Sadie Gasser were named to complete arrangements for the theater party.

MRS. BOOLE IS INVITED TO BREWERY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 18.—UP—Fred Pabst, brewer, climaxed his argument with the W. C. T. U. about the prospects for return of real beer today by inviting Mrs. Ella A. Boole to visit his brewery.

Pabst recently announced that he was so sure beer would be legalized that he spent more than $800,000 modernizing his plant. Mrs. Boole, president of the W. C. T. U. told members of the organization in convention at Houston, Texas, that the announcement by Pabst was "absolutely false." She quoted Pabst further as saying that the free advertising was so excellent that he let the statement about beer returning go unchallenged.

"I don't know Mrs. Boole," said Pabst, "but neither she nor any other member of the W. C. T. U. ever came to see me. She seems to be the one seeking free advertising.

"I repeat that we are spending $800,000 to $1,000,000 on new equipment and modernization at the plant because we have faith that the dry law will be modified to permit making of real beer. We will be able to turn out 300,000 bottles of it daily in a short time."

Pabst said his grain elevators were crammed with some 500,000 bushels of barley, hops and malt, all purchased at low market prices.

Interment will be in the Greenwood cemetery here, where three sons, James, John and Theodore, are buried. Her husband died aboard his yacht off the north coast of Liberia in 1926 and was buried at sea.

W. C. T. U. HITS MOVIES AT MEET

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 18.—UP—A resolution asking for federal censorship of the moving picture industry because "present day films scoff at prohibition, portray wanton waste and instruct youth in methods of committing crimes," was adopted unanimously today by the national convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

The convention, after re-electing Mrs. Ella Boole, of Brooklyn, president for the sixth consecutive term adopted nine other resolutions, all aimed at stricter enforcement of the existing prohibition laws.

The first declared modern life is too complex to admit any compromise with the liquor habit and advocated total abstinence as an essential aid to solution of problems of modern existence. Others asserted government control as a substitute for prohibition is a failure; advocated teaching of temperance in public schools; denounced state control; declared the W. T. C. U. would oppose any and all political parties adopting a repeal plank; declared activities of opponents of prohibition are dangerous to good government and inimical to the administration which recognizes its obligation to law enforcement.

"Prohibition will be menaced as long as the motion picture industry continues unrestrained," Miss Maude M. Aldrich, the union's motion picture department head, said.

Other national officers re-elected by the convention were: Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, Des Moines, vice-president; Mrs. Anna Marden Deyo, Evanston, Ill., corresponding secretary; Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, Evanston, Ill., treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Hoge, Lincoln, Va., recording secretary, and Mrs. Nellie Burger, Springfield, Mo., assistant recording secretary.

Officer Held In Killing Charge

REDWOOD CITY, Nov. 18.—UP—John J. Hennessey, suspended San Mateo police officer, was held to answer in superior court here after his preliminary hearing today on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

He was released on $5000 bond until his trial starts. Hennessey was exonerated by a coroner's inquest recently on a charge of killing Jack Mills, alleged bootlegger, Oct. 19.

Irish Free State Plans Tariff Wall

DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—An all-around protective tariff is supported by Eamon De Valera, Irish Nationalist following his visit to the United States where he witnessed the working of the plan.

The Free State government has been forced along the road of protection he said and has thus been able to provide employment for 15,000 men.

It would be possible to organize as to be able to produce more than $150,000,000 worth of goods that are now imported, he said.

Richard W. Childs Sued For Divorce

NEWPORT, R. I. Nov. 18.—UP—Richard Washburn Child, former U. S. ambassador to Italy, and widely recognized authority on international affairs, is being sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Eva Sanderson Child, according to a petition on the December divorce docket of the Newport superior court, made public here today.

The petition said Mrs. Child seeks a divorce on grounds of "extreme cruelty." The Childs have two minor children, Constance and Anne.

The divorce procedure is the second which the former ambassador has been involved. In 1927 his first wife, Maud Parker, obtained a divorce on charges of cruelty.

LEGION TO AID IN RELIEF OF JOBLESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—Mobilizing the forces of the American Legion in California in the campaign to end unemployment, State Commander B. W. Gearhart of Fresno, head of the veterans' organization, has announced steps to join the nation-wide effort to meet the problem now confronting the nation, Commander Gearhart has enlisted the support of approximately 400 Posts of his organization in this state. In a statement, Commander Gearhart says:

"Our country is in the throes of an unemployment situation, which challenges the American Legion to give that same loyalty and support which the Legion gave in a similar emergency in 1921 and 1922."

"The 881,000 members of our organization throughout the nation are men of stability in their own communities, or they would not be in the Legion. This is evidenced by the fact that in 1929-30, when the lack of employment was fully felt, our organization increased its membership to the highest point in its history. Therefore, we can reasonably assume, that a majority of Legionnaires have standing, and influence, in the business and industrial world.

"May I ask that you transmit to every Legionnaire in your department my earnest request that every effort be made to provide work for their comrades less fortunate than themselves. No man, who served the colors in war, will ask for charity. He will accept a job from a comrade, however, and be grateful for the chance to make his own living, just as he shared the hardships and sometimes the food or cigarets of his comrades in the war zones.

"What a magnificent thing it would be, if every member of the Legion would accept the individual obligation of finding, in some manner, at least one job for an idle comrade. Nearly one million men put to work, nearly half of these abnormally out of work in the country at this time, according to latest available estimates of President Hoover, could easily turn the tide of unemployment, back to a revival of good times.

"At the same time, may I ask that each Post in our department, if at all possible, start any building, or remodeling, work which might have been under consideration and for which it can arrange the financing?

"If you, and the Legionnaires in our department, do this, you will be living up to two principles in the preamble of our constitution; 'To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation,' and 'to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship by our devotion to mutual helpfulness.'

Felon Dies In Leap From Train

ROMSEY, Eng., Nov. 18.—A fight between four convicts and two guards ended in the death of one of the prisoners when he jumped from the window of a moving train today.

The four men were being taken to a prison in Princetown, Barthmoor when one of them asked to be taken to the platform of the train. There one of the wardens unloosened him and the prisoner immediately attacked him.

The other three prisoners attacked the second guard. Only the arrival of a train officer is believed to have saved the wardens. The three convicts were subdued.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Conviction of James (Fur) Sammons, one of Chicago's 28 "public-enemies" on a vagrancy charge and his sentence to six months imprisonment today was hailed as the first victory of the city to rid the community of hoodlums.

As Sammons was led away to a cell his attorney declared he would seek a new trial.

Sammons was convicted on a state statute enacted in 1874 after six hours deliberation by a jury. The convicted man has a long criminal record dating back to 1899. He was held on $150,000 bond for alleged theft of liquor from a warehouse. He is also wanted in Baltimore on a robbery charge.

The work has been speeded up in conformity with Henry Ford's idea of giving as many men employment as possible, the company said.

New plants in the United States include one at Seattle, for which plans now are being made. It will employ 2000 men and have a capacity of 300 cars a day. The plant at Long Beach, Calif., just completed will employ 2600 men. Work has started on a paint at Richmond, Calif., to employ 2400 men.

Plants at Buffalo and Elizabeth, N. J., already are under way, while several other sites are under consideration for factories, it was said.

BRITISHER SAYS U.S. FACES HARD WINTER

LONDON, Nov. 18.—NP—Members of the American Chamber of Commerce sat at luncheon here today and heard a member of the British cabinet tell them that the United States was facing the worst winter in the history of that country.

J. H. Thomas, secretary of State for Dominions, let the Americans have it straight from the shoulder. He told them he did not want to pose as a prophet, but that he was convinced "you never have been through the hell you are going to go through in the next few months."

"It does no good to try to brush away facts," Thomas declared. "You are up against it, just as we have been up against it for a long time."

Thomas's speech came as a surprise, because it followed a talk by Francis Powell, chairman of the Anglo-American Oil company, in which Powell declared business was not half so bad as generally believed. He had just returned from two months in the United States.

Although Thomas did not mention the conversations under way here among a group of international bankers—including J. Pierpont Morgan, Owen D. Young, Gen. J. G. Harbord, George Harrison, Montagu Norman and others—he said gold was at the bottom of the present world-wide uncertainty.

Only the far-sighted efforts of statesmen and financiers could remedy the present situation, Thomas asserted.

"There is going to be no solution of the wor'd depression until we realize one fact—sterilize gold and you sterilize progress," Thomas said.

The labor government minister said he spoke "as a Socialist before capitalist hosts." He said the present depression had proved all economic theories false.

"Isn't it an anomaly," he queried, "that there is over-production in the world when millions of people are suffering from want?"

But the dour minister concluded with an optimistic note:

"Just as clay goes through fire and comes out finer and harder, so the American nation will come out better from the trials you are now experiencing."

Gangsters Free Kidnaped Sportsman

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 18.—NP—George H. Herford, wealthy Tulsa sportsman who was kidnaped by gangsters Sunday, returned unharmed to his home tonight.

He had been thrown from a speeding automobile near Chetopah, Kan., late today and was arrested as he walked about the town dazed by force of the fall. Identifying himself to Chetopah officers, he was returned here.

Herford said he had not been held for ransom and that the gangsters had not demanded money from him. He said he did not know the motive of the kidnaping.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright, 1930 (New York Evening World), Press Publishing Company

WHAT HER PUBLIC WANTS

HOW many girls, we wonder, read the report of the answers to the annual preference questionnaire

Which the Daily Princetonian, undergraduate newspaper, recently submitted to the freshman class at Princeton University?

This sample cross section of youthful male opinion
Must give the female of the species furiously to think,
In its candid revelations
Of what sort of girl men like best.
In answer to the question, "What qualities do you consider essential in the ideal girl?"
The quality of "BEAUTY" received 389 votes, about two-thirds of the total number cast.
The quality of "BRAINS" ran a poor second, with 282 votes.
An even poorer third was "PERSONALITY," with 172 votes.
And a mere scattering of these Princeton youths ascribed to their ideal girl
Such qualities as a sense of humor, character, common sense, loyalty, affectionate nature, health.

We point no finger of scorn at Princeton preferences—
They are, we doubt not, the natural preferences of most young men, in college or out.
When such preferences are honestly expressed—
The fact remains that the MOST desirable feminine quality, according to most of these choosy college boys,
Is BEAUTY—
And we repeat that this verdict is concurred in
By the acts, if not by the words, of most young men everywhere.
With occasional exceptions, who gets rushed hardest?
Isn't it the girl who either is beautiful or "just as good"—
Who, that is to say, by dress and makeup and air creates the illusion of beauty
Among the non-analytical youths of her acquaintance?
What little dumbbell, if she be pretty enough, misses either parties or proposals?
What selfish, or silly, or catty girl is ever a wallflower—
If she be also a beauty?
It may be true that beauty is only skin-deep,
But that seems to be deep enough for most young men.
It may be a moral law that handsome is as handsome does,
But the girl who handsome is should worry about handsome behavior,
So far as her popularity with the other sex is concerned!
If that popularity be the end and aim of her existence,
The question of whether she should be useful or ornamental
Is simply no question at all—by her ornamental value
She will succeed or fail.
As we said, we're not scorning or scolding;
We simply, in justice to our sex, are pointing out a realistic truth
Too often suppressed or ignored, but at this moment freshly emphasized
By the news from the Princeton preferential primary
On the qualities of the ideal girl.
Whatever else she may be, she MUST BE beautiful, the boys say.
If she is to place her potential lover and mate—
And since the perfectly natural sex motto of young female things
Is "We strive to please"—
Why shouldn't they concentrate thought, time and money
On clothes, cosmetics, LOOKS—
So long as it's looks, the wrapping of the feminine package,
Not brains, common sense, humor, loyalty or the reverse of these qualities which may be concealed within—
That is the chief interest of possible masculine purchasers?
Out of the mouths of Princeton babes the masculine heart speaketh—
Then why blame any girl for doing her level (or crooked) best
To give her public what it wants?

DECISION AT THIRTY

And so I'll take my heart out
And wear it on my sleeve—
Knowing, without caring,
What the others will believe.

Why should a heart be hidden
If hiding makes it break?
Revealing oft brings sorrow,
But—a chance is meant to take.

So I'll put on my blue dress
(My hair's still bright and curls),
I'll touch my lips with scarlet
And wear my treasured pearls.

If I must pay the piper
I'll never mind the cost,
For I am rediscovering
The things I thought I'd lost.

ALICE LEE.

A woman's notion of the utterly incurable optimist is not any of these solemn commercial magnates who have been explaining that "business is fundamentally sound and we are now on the upgrade," but Basil G. Eaves, manager of the Christmas Seal drive, who points out that a kissless America could in ten years halve the spread of tuberculosis.

OH, THE PAIN OF IT!

Yesterday, when I was sad,
I said, "I will be very bad."
Oh, I was quite determined to
Do all the awful things I knew.
I thought, "How sorry she will be
When she finds what's become of me."
Today, although it may seem strange,
There's been no very drastic change:
Sorrow still sits at my knee
And vicious plans envelop me.
So, I have started out to try
To be a pretty awful guy.
But I doubt if she'll give a damn
No matter what I do or am!

GATES HEBBARD.

HOME TOWN BOYS ARE DIFFERENT

The London youth, according to Dr. Nairn Dobbie of the County Council, is one of three types—barrel, wineglass, test tube. Three more good reasons why every day should be Thanksgiving Day for the American girl!

SPRING'S COMING!

The maples flaunt their crimson plumes,
The fields are tapestries from looms
Of master hands;
The blue jays call a shrill goodby,
The flowers, for a brief time, die—
To wake at His commands!

Back-Seat Driving Is Made Easier.—Evening World headline.

"Easier on whom?" inquires the Cynical Husband.

The Housewife's Scrapbook

When adding liquids to solids do this very slowly and stir constantly to blend them successfully and avoid lumping.

When a piece of furniture gets bruised soak a large piece of brown paper in cold water a few seconds, fold the paper and place it over the bruised spot, then iron over it with a very hot iron. Repeat until the wood becomes swollen. Let it dry well, then polish as usual.

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

After the first few weeks of menu planning for cold days the housewife begins to realize the necessity of having a vast repertoire of soups at her command. Both at luncheon and at dinner she has found that there is no first course so acceptable as a steaming cup of nourishing, savory soup.

KAREN HOLLIS

Of course, if she wants to avail herself of every easy aid to housekeeping, she can resort to canned soups, and they need no apology either, for manufacturers offer a great variety of delicious soups in cans, tubes and powder form. But for the one who prides herself that everything on her table is homemade, there are unusual soups that can be simply and economically made at home.

Nowhere in the world has the art of soup making reached such heights as in France. From the smartest cafe to the most frugal of peasant homes, the cook prides herself on the creations of her soup kettle, and well she might. Described, they sound absurdly simple, but if you try them you will find them tempting and delicious in flavor.

Here are two which are always well liked:

BEET SOUP

8 small, or 4 large beets
½ cup chopped celery (including young leaves)
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups cold water
1 cup milk
¼ cup cream
3 tablespoons butter.
1 tablespoon flour

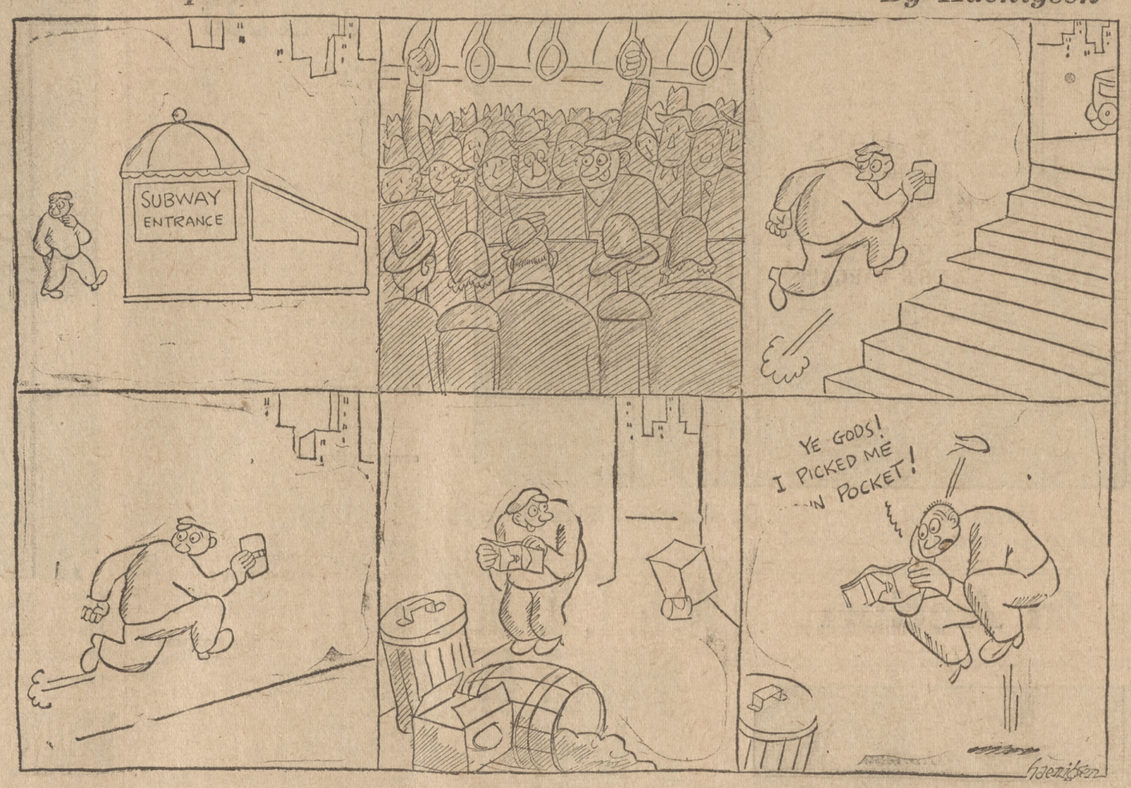

Wash the beets and scrub them hard so the outer skin is removed. Grate them on a coarse grater, or grind them in a fine chopper into a kettle, catching all the juice. Add chopped celery, cold water and salt. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for fifteen minutes. Force through a sieve, add milk and cream. Melt the butter, add flour, and when thoroughly blended add the vegetable and milk mixture a little at a time, stirring until smooth. Black pepper may be added if pungent seasoning is liked. Place a slice of well-browned and buttered toast in each soup plate and pour the soup over it.

POTATO SOUP

4 medium-sized potatoes
4 cups milk
1 onion, sliced
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
Dash of cayenne
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour.
Thin slice of lemon

Wash and pare the potatoes, cut them in small pieces and boil in a small amount of salted water for about twenty minutes, or until they are soft. There should be no more than half a cup of water left in the kettle when they have finished cooking. Do not drain them, but pour water and all through a sieve, forcing the potatoes through. Scald milk with sliced onion, remove the onion and add potatoes and seasoning to milk. Thicken with butter and flour blended together and let boil for a minute or two. Add a thin slice of lemon to each cup or soup bowl and sprinkle with minced parsley.

What Makes for an Interesting Doorway

The Screen a Treatment Greatly to Be Preferred to Curtains When the Outlook Is Considered

By Alma Zaiss

HERE AN INVITING VISTA AND PICTURES WELL-HUNG ON SURROUNDING WALLS SOFTEN THE BARE OUTLINE OF THE DOORWAY.

PROBLEM NO. 1

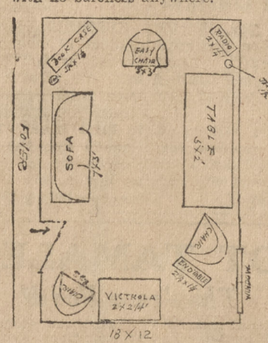

Dear Miss Zaiss: I am writing to ask you to please help me with the following problem: I expect to move into a new house soon and am planning the furnishings now. Between the sun room and living room there is an opening without doors, 6½ feet high and 4 feet wide. As it seems to me, this space is too narrow for side drapes. What would you suggest to take away the bare look it has at present? I would be very grateful for any suggestion you may give me. Incidentally, the living room furnishings will be in henna and gold and the sun room in shades of yellow.

(Mrs.) C. B. W.

Neither Curtains Nor Screen Necessary in This Room

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

WHAT to do with a gaping doorway. . . . It is always a question which many homemakers seem to answer most easily with curtains. . . . Forgetting the equal possibilities of the decorative screen, or the more subtle scheme of making surrounding walls and the vista through the doorway so interesting that the first and most lasting complete and adequate furnishing with no bareness anywhere.

ORIGINAL DIAGRAM

Of the uses of the screen to partially mask the outline of a doorway so much has been said in previous problems that it need not be mentioned here . . . except perhaps to say that where the door leads from the living room to the sun room—and the view through is one of brightness and beauty with no need for privacy—there is rarely a need for either a screen or portieres. The better plan is to let the door act as a frame for a lovely picture beyond it . . . a group such as we see through the unadorned door in the illustration, for example. Here the broad window with its curtains and Venetian blinds, the sofa and coffee table before it, the book table and pictures to one side are so inviting that to obscure them even partially would be to add disappointment instead of decoration. Doubtless the vista is comparable to one that may be planned in Mrs. W's sun room which, carrying the living room colors of henna and gold through in different shades of yellow, must make a very pleasing harmony.

If in addition to adopting this picture-frame treatment Mrs. W. will see that the side walls that flank the open doorway are given a discreet amount of decoration, she will have done all that is necessary to provide balance of color, line and design as well as interest for this section of her living room.

Note how simply the wall to the right of the door in the picture has been treated . . . yet how intriguing it is! Merely a table, a lily bowl and a group of prints—colorful, individual, well-placed. To the left the arched door gives a change of outline; the larger picture fits just right on the narrow wall between the two openings, while further on two more pictures and the window group round out the entire corner so that in spite of the large, undraped double door there is not the slightest feeling of bareness.

This is a solution worth remembering for its departure from the conventional treatment. We do not all crave portieres . . . and however decorative it may be, many of us resent the screen that must be moved back and forth and which, while excellent for the dusky corners, is sometimes a drawback when placed where it would deprive us of good daylight.

PROBLEM NO. 2

Dear Miss Zaiss: I am inclosing a floor plan of our combination living room, with pieces of furniture situated in same. I am contemplating purchasing a small grand piano (4'6" x4'10"). May I ask your help in planning the rearrangement of these articles to accommodate the piano? The only radiator in the room is under the double window, which, by the way, is the only window in the room. If necessary, we can take the Victrola out of the room and place same in the foyer.

Any other suggestions will be greatly appreciated. At present we have three large pictures, one on each side wall and one on the farthest wall. (Mrs.) J. G.

The Piano in the Combination Living-Dining Room

THIS is an excellent problem for demonstration . . . but little need be said in explanation of the arrangement outlined by the diagram. A study of the floor plans will show the wisdom of the placement suggested . . . first, from the angle of comfort; second, for convenience; and first, second and third, from the decorative standpoint.

The room as rearranged gives us the full benefit of the double window for daytime reading, lounging and for dining. True, the piano is in the darkest corner. Were the room a studio instead of a home living room, and the piano to be used many hours during the day, it would probably have found a place against the sofa wall, with its keyboard toward the windows. But decoratively speaking—and for all general home purposes—the location shown is the correct one. A standing lamp will give sufficient light if the room is inclined to be dark at this point. The rule for placing the grand piano is (wherever possible) to keep the curved side toward the room, the nose to the wall and the keyboard in a position that will permit the player to face the audience or the main part of the room.

We have accepted Mrs. G.'s suggestion that the Victrola be put in another room. It is not a good piece for foyer, but it would be better there than in the living room. The three pictures may be used above the sofa, table and radio, as indicated. The diagram suggests a rather important octagon table and lamp for the window side of the sofa, a tip-top or piecrust table for the other side, and a coffee table. Other end tables might be used, however, if they happen to be on hand.

A small joint stool is also shown at one end of the long table. The open arm chair and the side chair in the curve of the piano should be of the type that will be suitable and comfortable for dining as well as decorative for the living room . . . and in these positions indicated they will be most convenient.

"Taking" Ways

"MY FIVE-YEAR-OLD took a nickel from my purse on my bureau and bought candy to treat her friends," a mother tells me, in tragic tones.

"My son of seven went with some older boys to a department store and came home with a tooth brush which he had stolen," another mother tearfully confides. "He had no use whatsoever for the tooth brush, but he thought he ought to follow his companions' example."

One can readily sympathize with mothers, scrupulously honest themselves, who naturally want their children to follow in their footsteps. But when little children, for one reason or another, succumb to temptation, there is no occasion to feel that they have started on a criminal career! Small children cannot possibly look upon honesty with adult eyes. They cannot see it in all its broad implications. I wager that many, perhaps most, high principled, scrupulously honest adults were guilty of one or more dishonest acts in their childhood.

I hope the foregoing does not give the impression that I advocate neglecting the children's training along these lines. I am simply making a plea for a more understanding, less tense attitude toward childish lapses. We should begin to teach our children the difference between "mine" and "thine" during their very early years. "No, that's brother's toy," we can say to the little one. "This is Baby's." And likewise, we must show a respect for the children's possessions, inducing rather than forcing them to share their toys; and never throwing away or making similar disposition of their belongings without their permission.

We must always bear in mind, also, that children are weak, and succumb easily to temptation; and on that account, it is not fair to subject them to too severe tests. Some children have such a high sense of honor, and so much self-control, that we can leave candy, cake or money anywhere, with no fear of its being tampered with. Other youngsters, however, have not this power of resistance. Temptation, therefore, should always be graded to the individual child's capacity to resist it. By putting tempting articles out of the way until the little one has acquired more self-control, we shall not be weakening his will.

When a child has an allowance of his own, he is not as likely to succumb to temptation as when he longingly and hopelessly views his comrades' toys, spending money, or other prized possessions.

We should never accuse a young child of stealing. Nor should we ever fasten the name "thief" to a child, no matter how many mistakes he has made! Patient teaching and an unwavering faith in the young one's inherent honesty will, in time, bear fruit.

ANOTHER MR. AND MRS.

ARTHUR (the Great) Shires, the self-confident ball player and boxer, has just married a Hollywood screen actress. Here's a glimpse of the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Shires:

MRS.—It's just lovely to have you for a life partner, Arthur.

ART—I'll say it is! You couldn't 'a' done better unless the Prince of Wales and Mussolini was rolled into one.

MRS.—I've always admired you as a man, dear.

ART—Is that all? How about admiring me as a first baseman, a heavyweight scrapper and an after-dinner speaker? I'm the best there is.

MRS.—Of course, dear, your ball playing is marvelous.

ART—You said it. I practically made the American League what it is today. Before I joined 'em, they were in the minors.

MRS.—But were you really as good a boxer, Arthur, as I've heard you say?

ART—Was I? I was better! Listen, honey, the week I bought my first pair of boxing gloves Gene Tunney retired.

MRS.—Did he really?

ART—Yes, and Young Stribling beat it for Europe. I don't like to brag, but you can put those two facts together.

MRS.—Do you think you'll be regular [illegible] baseman with the Washington [illegible] next season or will they keep you [illegible] substitute?

ART—Ha-ha-ha! That's a good one! Do you think the Great Shires was a substitute because Joe Judge played first base all last season?

MRS.—Why, that's what folks said.

ART—That's how dumb the public is, honey. Listen, they let Judge play first base regular because they wanted me on the bench. Walter Johnson's eyesight is failing and he's got lumbago and I was practically managing the team.

MRS.—How was it you didn't win the pennant?

ART—I missed a train connection on one of our western trips and they went into a slump.

MRS.—Well, now that we're married, Arthur——

ART—Would you mind calling me Arthur, the Great?

MRS.—Of course not. And now that we're married, don't you think I should get some ash trays for the apartment?

ART—What do you want ash trays for? With my accuracy, when I flick ashes they land right in the fireplace. Why, I could stand in the breakfast room and aim a butt out the parlor window. It's like making a four-base wallop every time up.

MRS.—I won't get any ash trays, then, dear?

ART—Nix. And don't buy any fur coats this winter, either. I'm going on a hunting trip soon and I'll bring back the makings. Would you want sable or mink?

MRS.—I think sables would be lovely, but be careful not to have any bullet holes in the skin.

ART—Gee, I forgot about that. Well, I'll capture the sables with my bare hands. And while I'm about it, I'll strangle a couple of leopards for you. You can have a leopard skin coat for every day wear.

MRS.—That would be lovely, Arthur dear—I mean The Great!

ART—It'll help your screen career to wear swell coats like that. And while I'm on that subject, why don't you have Adolph Zukor, Charley Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Will Hays and a few more like that up here to dinner to meet me?

MRS.—I will. And I might fix it so you could play opposite me on the screen.

ART—Oh, I'd be too good for that. With my ability as a talker, they're saving me as the antidote for "All Quiet on the Western Front." I'm going to be the whole cast.

HOLDUP MAN IS WOUNDED BY OFFICER

what was the matter. Heldoorn shouted that he was being robbed.

The man seeing Thulen, turned and started to run away, going up Schmidt lane. Thulen chased after him, yelling for him to stop.

Shots Fired

The suspect turned, pointed his pistol and fired a shot at the pursuing officer, Thulen reported. He said he heard the bullet whistle over his head.

Drawing his pistol, Thulen fired a shot into the air in an effort to stop the man. The later stopped again turned, raised his pistol and pulled the trigger. Only the fact that the shell refused to explode saved Thulen from a possible wound.

Seeing that his gun wouldn't fire, the man turned and ran away. Thulen again fired into the air. Another shot and the bandit refused to halt. Thulen then slowed his pace, raised his pistol and took a careful aim. At the shot the man slumped to the street, the officer said.

Critical Wound

A Wilson and Kratzer ambulance was summonded and the wounded man was taken to Hospital Richmond where he was treated by Dr. Fraser and Dr. Feldman. Here it was found that the bullet from the officer's gun had struck the man in the spine, severing several nerves, and paralyzing his legs.

At the hospital the man was questioned by Chief of Police R. R. Cheek and Tsar N. Calee, deputy district attorney.

Suspect Mum

The suspect, however, refused to tell his name. However, he asked questioners if they would notify Mrs. Nick Sholtz, 2106 Eighth avenue, Oakland, and she would tell his wife. Police at a late hour last night were unable to get in touch with the Sholtz woman.

Police are also investigating a report that when the shooting occurred a man driving an old model Buick car was seen driving away from Schmidt lane. This man may have been an accomplice of the wounded man, police report.

Heldoorn was unable to attribute any reason for the holdup and could not identify the bandit. He was carrying a large sum of money at the time of the attempted holdup, it was said.

CHICAGO PLANS TO ASSIST JOBLESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 18. —UP— A $5,000,000 Chicago unemployment aid campaign started tonight simultaneously with announcement of details of Mayor William Hale Thompson's $1,000,000 prosperity prize drawing.

The campaign to collect $5,000,000 began under auspices of Governor Louis Emerson's emergency relief committee. The drive seeks contributions of one day's pay a month from workers and better than proportional donations from employers and high salaried executives.

The $1,000,000 prosperity plan of the mayor met with silence from the merchants asked to cooperate, but Thompson said that he was certain it was workable, so certain that he already had contracted for the printing of 400,000,000 tickets.

The capital prize would be $100,000 cash, second prize $50,000 and third prize $25,000. The rest of the 1,653 winners would get $500 each.

Mayor Thompson said the tickets would be sold to Chicago merchants before the drawing at $2.50 per thousand. The merchants would give one ticket to each purchaser of 25 cents worth of goods. The purchasers then would place their numbered stubs in tanks and take their chances on winning a prize.

The plan in its very magnitude would dwarf the famous Calcutta sweepstakes and all other great drawings of history.

Merchants so far have made but little response to the scheme. Colonel Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago association of commerce characterized it as "economically unsound, illegal and unmoral."

Pin Held Cause Of Thoat Ailment

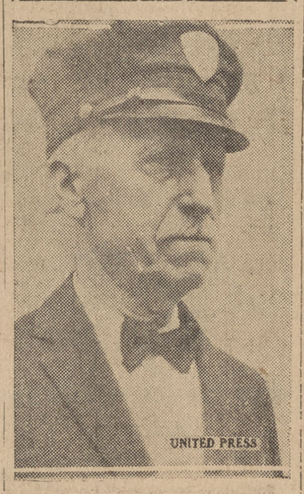

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—A common pin was held today to be the cause of a case of asthma suffered by a woman for several years.

Mrs. Florence Middleton Jones of Ontario swallowed a pin in 1914. A few years later she suffered bronichal pneumonia.

She recovered and then took down with the ailment again. Dr. C. E. Lemmon found a pin deeply imbedded in the bronichal tubes. An operation performed failed to remove the obstruction.

Another surgical operation will soon be attempted in an effort to remove the obstruction.

Probers In Raid On Red Warehouse

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 18.—UP—The congressional committee investigating Communist propaganda assisted by local police and federal agents, today raided the Merchants Warehouse, Inc., here.

The three-story building, located in Diamond alley, just off Lexington street near the shipping district, was said to have been ransacked from top to bottom. Local authorities refused to reveal what information the committee sought.

Chairman Hamilton Fish, jr., of the house committee was said to have conducted the raid. About 10 local police, including a police captain, and a dozen federal agents aided him.

Fish left Baltimore after the raid and was understood to be en route to New York. Authorities, after revealing that Fish took part in the affair, refused to give any more details.

Naval Official Tests Carrier

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 18.—UP—Taking his orders from an enlisted signalman, David Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy today tried out the airplane carrier Langley.

Ingal's made a number of successful landings on the carrier at sea off San Diego. The landings were made under "adverse circumstances" it was announced, meaning that the roll of the boat made the task an especially difficult one.

The signalman from whom the secretary took his orders stood on the landing deck and signalled Ingalls not to land when the wings of his plane were not parallel with the swaying deck as he brought the craft in for the landings.
